Anne Elizabeth Murphy Lampal (1966-2008)
Scholarship Fund for Saint Dominic Academy

INTRODUCTION
Anne (S.D.R.H.S. Class of 1984), like so many of us who passed through the well-worn halls of the Drouin and Wallace Buildings in Lewiston, was profoundly shaped by her years at St. Dom’s. Those teachers and fellow students who were fortunate enough to know her there were themselves shaped by Anne’s own forceful and engaging personality.

Leadership: She was a natural leader, someone who, by her independence and integrity, inspired respect and affection in and out of the classroom. It was no surprise that her classmates several times elected her to the student senate, but it was, for Anne, an unlooked for honor that they also overwhelmingly elected her Carnival Queen in 1984.

Service: St. Dom’s nurtured in Anne an inclination to serve others, especially those most in need. As a high school student, she volunteered in a vocational program for the developmentally disabled; as a college graduate, she began her career working at a hospital for psychiatric patients with serious brain injuries; after finishing her M.Div., she worked as a nursing home chaplain.

Faith and Study: Anne’s faith, a faith that developed over the course of her life, was accompanied by a love of intellectual inquiry. Both came of age at St. Dom’s and led her to study philosophy and psychology for her B.A. at Simmons College, and religion and pastoral service for her M.Div. at Harvard Divinity School.

Creativity: Anne’s creativity was evident in many aspects of her life. At St. Dom’s, it shone forth on the stage for the audiences that watched her in a variety of lead and supporting roles in the school’s theater productions. She wrote on creativity for her undergraduate thesis, and displayed it in her studies, her work, and the many artistic and culinary projects through which she enriched the home she made for her husband and three children.

Humor: And, finally, those who knew her well will remember her ironic, often biting, sometimes earthy sense of humor; she was very funny, because she was very insightful, and read her target painfully well.
